Happy Petition Contests School Board Election

By CARROLL WILSON

A dozen unhappy Happy area residents have filed a petition to contest the April school board election in Happy, alleging several violations of the Texas Election Code.

The petition, including the names of 12 Happy area residents, was filed with Swisher County Attorney George Jennings Jr. in Tulia.

Fearing recriminations against their children by Happy school officials, the 12 have asked their names not be published.

However, Mrs. Helene McFarland, who has no children in the Happy schools at this time, told The News of the petition, which will spur an investigation into the school board election by the Swisher county attorney office and possible holding of another election.

Mrs. McFarland said the petition alleges several things:

* That an election clerk who participated in the election procedure is a relative to one of the candidates for election to the school board.

The News learned that Mrs. Pat Sims, a cousin by marriage to incumbent Burl Sims, was a clerk in the election.

Several voters in the election have told The News they saw Mrs. Sims counting ballots.

Mrs. Frances Hudson, who was election judge in the election, has told The News Mrs. Sims did not count ballots, but was simply an official at the ballot box.

"Mrs. Pat Sims was back there when I was in there and she was counting votes," said one voter.

Sims was re-elected in his bid for the board.

* That according to the election code three judges must be appointed to handle a school board election. The petitioners allege that no judge was appointed, according to school board minutes, and certainly three judges were not appointed.

* That school board members did not properly canvass the election results as required by the election code.

"We have no intention of impugning the character or integrity of any of these people," Mrs. McFarland said.

She said, though, the dozen who signed the petition feel the election "was very sloppily run.

"There hasn't been a really legal election in the memory of anybody," she said.

She said the petitioners believe elections should be run according to law and the contest is an effort to ensure that future elections are so run.

Another signee of the petition said she feels the incidents cited are simply irregularities in the voting procedure, irregularities she wants to see corrected in future elections.

She said she feels the petition "pretty well expresses the feelings of most of the people in the community.

"The people feel if there is something amiss then we need to right it. If you're not going to do something the right way, then why do it at all?"

Several persons told The News they do not want to be identified by name because they fear school

Board Purchases Acreage As Future North School Site

The Canyon School Board Tuesday night approved the purchase of a 60-acre tract of land just south of Hollywood Road at the dead end of Bell Street. The land, to cost $100,450, was bought as a site for future building needs anticipated for the northern portion of the school district.

Negotiations were made by Jerry Jacobs, superintendent, and Tom Keeling, school board president, after authorization from the board. Several executive board sessions had been held in regard to the purchase of the parcel.

The agreement calls for a down payment of $20,450 with the balance to be paid over a four year period. Interest of four per cent per annum will be paid on the balance, and there is a prepayment clause in the agreement that would allow the school system to settle the remainder, or a part of it, at an earlier date.

A penalty of five per cent would be paid on any part of the balance paid off prematurely, said Jacobs.

The board has made no official comment regarding the building of additional school facilities in the northern portion of the district, but one member Tuesday night expressed the idea that "it might be sooner than we expect."

Jacobs credited Keeling with obtaining a $2,650 price reduction due to the parcel having a slight slope on its southern edge. "It will not hurt construction but it did affect the price," the superintendent said.

The board commended Jacobs and Keeling for their work on the site purchase. "It's a good location," said Dr. Dudley Moore. Ed Wieck added, "Good negotiations."

The site offers 948 feet of frontage on Hollywood Road, with the southern boundary line stretching just over 2,000 feet from east to west. It is "L" shaped and more than 1,600 feet deep from north to south.

For the present, the tract of land is being leased for cattle grazing and the board voted to continue the lease "with the stipulation that we can take immediate possession" should it be needed.

The board was also informed that Canyon had been approved for an area vocational school facility, with federal and state funds up to $266,000 available in matching funds. This would be 53 per cent of the maximum construction cost, with the school district to provide the remaining 43 per cent.

If the maximum cost of $502,000 was used, the district's share would be $235,940.

In its application to the Texas Education Agency, the Canyon system had estimated the total cost at $415,000, considerably less than the maximum.

According to the application, the structure would house all vocational classes recognized by federal law, and would cover an area of 27,000 square feet.

The board discussed seven possible means of accepting the opportunity and decided to table

WT Budget Could Mean Loss Of 20 On Faculty

As many as 20 faculty members at West Texas State University could find themselves without jobs between now and next spring depending on funding provided for the next two years by the current state Legislature.

Dr. Ray A. Malzahn, academic vice president, said Monday if legislators approve what he termed "a bad budget" for the university the administration would be forced to terminate as many as 20 faculty members.

The better the budget, the fewer faculty members will have to seek other employment.

Malzahn has made several speeches in recent weeks to faculty members concerning the budget now under scrutiny in Austin.

"I'm trying to tell them this budget is really a serious situation this year," he said.

He stressed he has no current figures to back up his prediction, but said he is busy compiling contingency plans to provide an adequate budget to meet legislative funding requirements.

Malzahn said he is not sure at this point whether the jobs of any tenured faculty members are in jeopardy due to the slim budget which appears to be in the making in the legislature.

But, he said, tenure is no protection for faculty members during a time of limited funds.

The vice president said letters informing faculty members whose contracts will not be renewed are expected to be sent possibly before or during final examination week. Final exams begin May 13.

"We have a policy that so far as possible, we will give faculty members so many months notice," he said. "In the faculty handbook it says, if the faculty member is non-tenured and is in his first year of appointment, the latest he can be notified is March 1 of that year. If he's in his second year, he must be notified by Dec. 15 and if he's in his third or fourth years, he must be given 12 months notice."

Citing the possibility that WTSU may receive a special appropriation for the 1973-74 school year which would alleviate the need for terminating a large number of faculty members next fall, Malzahn said it is possible that the 1974-75 budget will not include the special appropriation. In that case, termination letters would be required.

Malzahn said he is currently examining each department in the university, studying comparison figures concerning student enrollment, number of ma-

WTSU Regents Add Names To List; Four Of Several Make Campus Visit

Several of the presidential candidates who are scheduled to visit the West Texas State University campus this week and in the future were not included on the list of candidates recommended the board of regents by a five-man screening committee.

Regent Kent Hance of Lubbock said several of the candidates who will visit the campus were contacted personally by the regents themselves or have come to regents' attention through means other than the screening committee report which was issued about three weeks ago.

Three candidates will be on campus this week—one was interviewed Wednesday—to talk with students, faculty, administrators and the public.

"We're leaving it open," Hance said of the pursuit for a new WTSU president. "That's not the only four (who will visit the campus).

"As far as I'm concerned, if it takes six months to find the right man then we'll take it."

Hance said the regents may continue their search and bring candidates to campus who were not screened by a faculty-administration-public committee throughout the spring.

"If we find one who fills the bill, it doesn't matter whether he was on the list or not," Hance said.

Hance was the second regent in a week who indicated the selection process is taking longer than the regents had at first anticipated. Regent B. Raymond Evans last week told The News it is possible none of the candidates now under perusal would be the right man for the presidency.

In a press release issued Tuesday afternoon to area media, Regents Chairman Cloyce Box identified the four candidates who will be on campus this week.

They are Dr. Thomas Paige Carruth, 42, vice president of WTSU for student affairs; Dr. W.A. "Bill" Miller, 44, chairman of the division of higher education at North Texas State University; Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, 44, president of the Iowa Association of Private Colleges and Universities, Des Moines; and Dr. Leon S. Pope, 49, associate dean of agriculture at Texas A&M University.

Each candidate will be interviewed by administrative, faculty and student committees and be the guest at a public reception on the second floor of the Activities Center.

The administrative committee is chaired by Dr. John E. Green, dean of the School of Fine Arts, who also was a member of a presidential screening committee appointed by the regents.

Dr. Jerry Miller, also a member of the screening committee and chairman of the Faculty Council, will head the faculty group interviewing the candidates.

Bob Lee of Happy, president of the Student Association, will chair the student committee.

Carruth, who came to WTSU in 1959 as assistant professor of education and director of men's housing, was interviewed Wednesday. The reception for him was at 4:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Carruth's candidacy for the presidency was endorsed earlier this spring by five area legislators.

And, It's A Hard Rain's Been Fallin' In County

If you think it's been a long time since we've had as much rain as Randall County's received this spring, you're right.

Record rainfall recorded in this area, according to available statistics, for the first four months of a year was in 1905 when 9.64 inches fell in January, February, March and April.

In the first four months of 1973, rainfall in Canyon totalled 8.82 inches, just shy of the record and a near second.

Rarely has Canyon recorded much more than 5 inches in the first four months of a year.

In fact, there have been a few years when the area barely mustered an inch.

Old-timers, though, have been talking about this spring, a spring which holds the brightest prospect for a record wheat crop in the county's recorded history.

Not only have the rains come in large amounts, but they've come at just about the right intervals to do the most good for the wheat crop.

January, February, March and April of 1973 far out distance most springs in moisture received.

During the same four months in 1972, for example, just under a half inch had fallen.

In 1915, rainfall for the first four months totalled 8.37 inches, just under this year's total. And, it was a good year for moisture

The Impact Of Watergate

Walter Shelly

Dick Jackson

David Matthis

How will the Watergate Scandal impact on public opinion in this country? What effects will the scandal have on the Republican Party as far in the future as 1976? What effects will it have on the Democratic Party?

These and other questions were bandied about by three West Texas State University professors of government Tuesday in an effort to assess the scandal in a public opinion context.

Their assessment—Watergate could have far-reaching implications, probably, however, not extending to the 1976 election, depending on future disclosures about the role of President Nixon in the scandal.

"The impact on the integrity of the office (of Presidency) is the important thing because it has come to be not only so important from the point of view of sheer power, but it has also come to be looked on as an office representative of the nation as a whole," said Associate Professor David Matthis. "It's the only national office representative of all the people."

Matthis said the Watergate affair could impact on the world public opinion of the office in a negative sense, at a time when the U.S. cannot afford to lose integrity in high offices.

Matthis cited the credibility gap accorded to President Johnson during his last two years in office, and said Nixon faces a similar loss of credibility with the people of the country over the Watergate affair.

"In the last couple of years, President Nixon's credibility had grown some," he said, "but I'd be surprised if it has now."

Instructor Dick Jackson said he has doubts the Watergate affair will have much impact on the 1976 election process.

"I see this as essentially other than credibility," he said. "That's an easy way of explaining it. We have been bombarded in the last few months with the winding down of a long war and it's tended to make us relax. We've heard much from the POWs.

"And, I think there's something in the back of our craw. We needed a purging of some sort."

Jackson said he believes the Watergate incident has essentially been blown out of proportion when viewed in respect to other major issues facing the country—issues like the renewed bombing of Cambodia.

He feels the country is using the Watergate scandal to purge itself of a feeling of dishonor developed in our efforts in Vietnam.

"I think something positive can come out of this," said Assistant Professor Walter Shelly. "While the American people believe there should be restraints in political behavior, they're not really willing to tolerate a complete separation of morality and politics and what's strange is the point at which the American people are willing to justify any action is mere politics and then are willing to hold people accountable."

Shelly said many Americans until the past few weeks had the tendency to pass the Watergate affair off as merely politics, a bit of chicanery dabbled in by both Democrats and Republicans.

He said, with the general agreement of Matthis and Jackson, that the American people apparently will not tolerate political chicanery when it reach-

COVERING FUMBLES

by Dean Mitch Jones

At age twenty I would have said, "You are a damn liar!" At retirement age I said, "If you were interested you could have easily checked the truth of the matter." (What in this world is Progress?)

Wayne Rankin, right, president of the West Texas Ex-Students, Inc., looks through a large book depicting the work of Faculty Excellence Award winner Claud Zevely, center. Also examining the book is Larry Culp, named Man of the Year for WTSU, during the Tuesday night Phoenix Club Banquet. Zevely and Culp were honored during the banquet. See story, page 2.

Zevely Honored By Exes

The $1000 Faculty Excellence Award presented by West Texas Ex-Students Inc. went Tuesday night to Claud "R" Zevely, assistant professor of education at West Texas State University since 1966.

Presentation of the award was made during the annual Phoenix Club banquet on campus.

More than 240 persons attended the fete in the university dining hall.

Larry "Wicky" Culp, 22, a senior animal science major at the university, was named Man of the Year during the banquet. Culp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Culp of Happy.

A public school teacher and administrator most of his teaching career, Zevely is reading coordinator and elementary curriculum director at WTSU's college of education.

A native of Claremore, Okla., he graduated in 1948 from East Central State College in Ada, Okla., with a bachelor's degree in history. He received an MA from West Texas State in 1950 and has done graduate work at the University of Colorado at Boulder and at George Peabody College. He is a candidate for the Ed.S. Degree from George Peabody.

From 1948 to 1950, Zevely was a public school teacher in elementary, junior and senior high schools. From 1950 to 1966, he was a public school administrator.

During his college years, he was named to Who's Who in Colleges and Universities in 1948. He was named to Who's Who in Education in 1954 and to Who's Who in the South and Southwest in 1964.

Zevely holds membership in various organizations, including the International Reading Association, National Education Association, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Association for Early Childhood Education, Texas State Teachers Association, and the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

He and his wife, Inell, have two sons, Dan and Kent.

Zevely was presented his $1000 check by Wayne Rankin, president of the West Texas Ex-Students, Inc., host for the Phoenix Club banquet.

Culp was selected WTSU Man of the Year by a student-faculty committee from nominations submitted by campus organizations.

He is WTSU chapter president of Phi Delta Theta, national social fraternity, which nominated him for the honor.

Culp has maintained a 2.92 grade point average based on a 3.0 system during his four years at WTSU and is a candidate for a Bachelor of Science Degree at the May 12 commencement.

He is vice president of Alpha Chi, national honor society, and a member of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, the Dean's List and the Agriculture Honorary Club.

During his four years at WTSU, he has been named the outstanding agricultural major each year. In 1972, he received the Texas Star American Farmer Award.

Culp has been a member of the university's livestock and dairy cattle judging teams and has consistently placed high at contests in Houston, Fort Worth, Denver and San Francisco.

He has served on the university's self-study committee, preparing a report on the institution for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Rene Clemente, 22, senior music major, was named first runner-up for Man of the Year.

the matter until the next meeting, after obtaining advice from financial experts regarding the most advisable route.

Most members voiced agreement to the need of such a facility and the low cost to the district should it be built. "I hate to think of losing the matching money," said one when means of providing the 43 per cent matching money was under discussion.

All tended to agree that seldom does the district get the chance to construct needed facilities on such ideal cost arrangements.

The major problem, agreed board members, was not in whether or not the acceptance was advisable . . . but rather how the local cost would be met. Only one method of financing dealt with an increase in school tax rates, and this appeared to be the least acceptable to board members.

According to Jacobs, high school principal John Sommers and teachers present, the new vocational facility would not only provide needed space for the trade classes, but it would also relieve crowded conditions in the present building.

Several sites at or near the high school would be well suited to location of the proposed structure, the superintendent said.

Should the board decide to accept the vocational complex, construction bids must be made by August 29 of this year. The lack of time available would all but eliminate a bond issue, said Jacobs, who added that such a means of financing would not be the most desirable anyway.

The board also heard reports from Jacobs and the four school principals regarding the self-evaluation study now underway in the system.

Preliminary reports were made by the principals in regard to committee findings. Most reported that facilities were in good condition with few corrections needed.

Each principal included commendations uncovered in the course of the study, with each high in praise of faculty and students.

The self-evaluation study will be completed next fall and the findings are expected to be tremendous help in future planning. Jacobs called it "the best tool we could have as a future guideline for planning."

It was announced to the board that the 1972-73 budget projections showed a surplus of $45,146 in the operating fund and a surplus of $9,565 for the sinking and interest fund.

The projections included the $20,450 down payment on the just purchased building site, $13,000 for completion of two portable classrooms, $10,000 for insurance to cover the contents of buildings and $4,000 for summer maintenance and repair.

Also tabled Tuesday night was consideration of allowing a $3,000 tax exemption for persons 65 years old or older. The board voted to invite members of the Canyon City Commission to their next regular meeting for the purpose of taking joint action.

Conway Kuykendall, school and city tax assessor-collector, told the board that any action taken now by the board might be for a one-year period only, due to a new state constitution now being drawn up in Austin.

The tax exemption statute may not be included in the new constitution, Kuykendall said.

One of the major problems, should the exemption be allowed, said the tax official, would be in determining who would be eligible for exemption.

The board set next Tuesday night as a time to hold a work session regarding the budget, and Thursday, May 17, as the date for board members to visit the four district schools.

Five members stated that they would attend the School Board Workshop scheduled at West Texas State University on Wednesday.

Guilty Plea For Burglar

A 23-year-old Hereford man, Juan Pena, pleaded guilty to burglary of a residence at night this week and was sentenced to five years adult probation by 181st District Court Judge Don Dean.

In other court action, Danny Earl Pershall, 21, of Amarillo was arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson on a charge of burglary of a motor vehicle. Bond was set at $2000. He is charged with the burglary of a vehicle owned by A. L. Williams of Amarillo.

jors, number of class hours and number of instructors to determine which departments can suffer the least under a manpower cut.

"Generally speaking, if two people in the same department have the same specialty or area and one is tenured and the other is non-tenured, the non-tenured faculty member will be given notice," Malzahn said. "But, if within a department one person is non-tenured and he is the only person within that department with a specific specialty and at the same time there are two tenured faculty members with the same specialty, it is possible to terminate a tenured person in preferance to a non-tenured person.

"It's a terrible situation and the worst part is having to terminate positions," he said. "No one feels good about it."

He noted that administrators are not just eyeing faculty positions which could possibly be eliminated, but also staff positions.

The WTSU budget picture has been bleak since the legislature began considering an appropriations measure.

The legislative budget board recommended a budget for the institution which was even below the current year operating funding.

In a House version not much more has been added to the LBB recommendation, and in the Senate about $300,000 in funds have been added.

Last spring, letters of termination were sent to 11 faculty members. Many of them will leave at the end of this semester, while others have already gone to other jobs.

officials will take revenge on their children, who are in Happy schools.

"It's a sad situation when people have to fear retaliation for their children," Mrs. McFarland said. "This is a real fear among these people. These people are afraid for their children."

School Supt. Sam Bryan told The News he knows nothing of the contest.

Jennings said Wednesday his staff will conduct an investigation of the election.

Current Happy school trustees are Sims, president, O.H. Rahlfs, vice president, Robert Lee, secretary, George White, Fay Hand, Lonnie Todd and Chan Foster.

Todd, Sims and Lee sought and gained re-election.

They were challenged by Walter Via, Wayne Pearson, and LaVenna Jackson.

Watergate . .

es into the White House.

The recent statements by such renowned Republicans as Barry Goldwater, who has talked about impeachment of the President, indicates to Shelly and Matthis that the American people have become disturbed over Watergate because of its reach into the White House.

Realizing this ground-level attitude, Congressional leaders have joined a surge in seeking the truth about Watergate.

Jackson said he feels the American people will base their reactions on the amount of Presidential involvement.

If, for example, it is proven Nixon knew about the Watergate caper before it happened, he believes there will be strong reaction to impeach the President. If, however, the President is implicated only in a cover-up effort the American people will justify that action and the impact will be lessened.

"I hate to see impeachment even mentioned," Matthis said. "It would be tragic if it went that far. We can't afford the luxury of doing that to somebody who is respected and speaks for the people."

In citing a quote from the President, Shelly said "As chief of state he proposed to 'rally the people, define those moral principles which are the cement of a civilized society, point the ways in which the energies of the people can be enlisted to serve the ideals of the people.'

"How has Watergate hurt him in this role?" he asked.

"I believe it's hurt him," Matthis replied. "He was striving toward that goal. He was trying to develop that kind of image."

Shelly also cited the President's admission Monday night that he had been given faulty information about the Watergate investigation and had based certain decisions on that information.

"How many times in areas of foreign policy—Vietnam for example—has this been the case?" Shelly asked.

Normally, according to statistics, the area receives an average of 2.91 inches during the first four months of the year.

In 1972, Canyon received only 14.85 inches of moisture for the whole year.

Traditionally, May is the heaviest moisture month in Canyon.

As much as 9 inches has fallen in May alone in the past years.

1972 didn't start off with a bang in the moisture department. Only .48 inch was recorded in January. In February, .48 was recorded again. March was the big month with 5.46 inches recorded and 2.40 inches fell in April.

Eagles Drop Lobos 3-2

The Canyon High School baseball Eagles, behind the two-hit pitching of Ed Lair, downed the Levelland Lobos 3-2 Tuesday afternoon.

All five runs were chalked up as unearned as errors paved the way for Canyon's first district win of the season. The Eagles have dropped a pair of district games while posting a season record of 7-11.

Tuesday at Levelland, the Lobos took the lead in the bottom of the first when they pushed across two runs. The Eagles were held scoreless until the third inning when their three winning runs crossed the plate.

Lair, in addition to holding the Lobos to just two hits, walked five and struck out 11.

Pope and Miller will visit the campus today. Miller, a 1949 graduate of West Texas State, will be hosted at a reception at 4:15 p.m. and Pope's reception time is set for 2 p.m.

Watkins, former executive vice president and professor of speech at Idaho State University, will be interviewed Friday with his reception scheduled for 4:15 p.m.

Box said the decision to invite the four candidates to the campus came "after a series of interviews during the last three weeks and since receiving the recommendations of the screening committee."

The chairman earlier said the board received 210 applications for the job now held by Dr. James P. Cornette, who will reach retirement age next year.

A native of Vernon, Tex., Carruth was graduated from Canyon High School and received Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees from West Texas State. Texas Tech University granted him a Doctor of Education Degree in 1959.

Carruth was named dean of student life in 1964 and was appointed to his present position of vice president for student affairs in 1970.

Miller also received Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees from West Texas State and a Doctor of Education from Texas Tech. He did post-doctoral work at Ohio State University.

He was a history teacher and head basketball coach at Dalhart High School in 1949-50 and later was an assistant basketball coach at Texas Tech while working toward his doctorate.

Miller also taught in the public schools at Borger and Amarillo and was chairman of the division of education and psychology at McMurray College, Abilene, Tex., before going to North Texas State in 1964 as associate professor of education administration. He assumed his present position at NTSU last year.

Pope received a Bachelor of Science in animal husbandry at Michigan State and Master of Science in animal science and a Doctor of Philosophy in animal nutrition at Oklahoma State University.

He became associate dean of the College of Agriculture at Texas A&M in 1968 after serving five years as head of the Department of Animal Science at Oklahoma State.

Pope rose through the academic ranks at OSU after being hired as a graduate assistant in the animal science department in 1947.

Watkins took his undergraduate work at Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, and received a Master of Science in speech at the University of Wisconsin. He was granted a Doctor of Philosophy in speech with a minor in law by Wisconsin in 1954.

He taught at Moorhead (Minn.) State College for two years and held teaching and administrative positions at Ohio University for 10 years.

In 1966 he was appointed executive vice president of Idaho State and three years later was named president of the Iowa Association of Private Colleges and Universities.

Hutton Ready To Go, Fight In Austin Against Bill

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton's bags are packed and he's ready to travel to Austin at a moment's notice to fight legislation he says would double the cost of elections in Randall County.

Hutton was to be in Austin Monday for a committee hearing on House Bill 1200, but the session has been cancelled.

When the hearing is rescheduled, Hutton hopes he'll be there.

Hutton, who is recognized throughout the state as an expert on computerized punch-card voting, fears, though, that as the Legislature runs out of time (only 30 days remain for action this session) House Bill 1200 will be railroaded through to passage without appropriate time for perusal.

"I'm afraid they'll pick up and pass it as a whole at the last minute without considering how it will fit into the whole election code," Hutton said.

The problem is just that, according to Hutton. The bill just won't fit in its current form.

The bill, for example, requires that counties which use computer punch-card voting submit a duplicate of their computer program to the secretary of state.

Obviously, says Hutton, this will double the cost of producing and testing a computer election program.

Another portion of the proposed bill says that any changes made to voting devices in counties with punch-card voting must be submitted to the secretary of state for approval.

"They tell me many improvements have been made on voting devices since we bought ours in 1968," Hutton said. "I think they would not continue to improve the system if it cost them each time they improved. It would definitely be a penalty against creating a better system for voting."

One part of the bill is totally unworkable, according to the county clerk. That section would require that in all elections counties provide 1 voting device for each 200 registered voters. For general elections the concept would be no problem, he said.

But, in primary elections, the bill might be interpreted to require that each party be furnished 1 voting device for each 200 registered voters. In the case of Randall County, this rule would triple the number of voting machines required. Cost of one voting device is well over $200.

The problem with House Bill 1200, Hutton said, is that it was written "by a person who doesn't understand punch-card voting."

The bill could act as a clean-up bill for punch-card voting, a bill to improve the current legal situation for counties which use this method, Hutton said, and he hopes to have an opportunity to point out to legislators sections of the proposed law which would be detrimental.

Hutton said another bill, a bill Randall County commissioners condemned by resolution recently, has been lost in committee and probably will not surface this session.

That bill completely outlaws punch-card voting.

State Sen. Max Sherman has gone on record opposing the bill.

Seeds Donated FFA Members For Research

The Palo Duro Soil and Water Conservation District presented Thursday seeds for 14 different species of grasses to the Canyon High School Future Farmers of America chapter for use in research and observation.

John O'Connor, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, said the FFA members will plant the seeds on their farm south of Canyon to give the members an opportunity to study grasses and the differences in grasses which have economic impact on the area.

Seeds for the research were donated by the SCS plant material center at Knox City, and by George Warner Seed Co. of Hereford.

Canyon Students To FHA Meeting

"Up, Up and Away with FHA" is the theme of the 1973 state meeting of the Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America to be held at the Convention Center in San Antonio, May 3-5, 1973.

More than 5,000 members and advisors representing over 65,000 members in 1,700 chapters throughout the state are expected to attend. Members are homemaking students in junior and senior high schools. Homemaking teachers serve as advisors.

Representatives of the Canyon High School HERO Chapter will be Sharon Nickell and Pattie Ormsby accompanied by sponsor Janet Sargent. Representatives of the Canyon High FHA Chapter will be Juanita Hartman and Brenda Hill accompanied by Mrs. Janet Fincher. Representatives of Canyon Junior High FHA will be Janet Malzahn and Kathy Cantrell accompanied by sponsor Mrs. Lanette Whitley.

Keynote speaker will be Marilyn Van Derbur, Denver, Colorado, former Miss America and renowned youth speaker. Miss Van Derbur will challenge the delegates to make of themselves the very best possible persons in today's society.

District 4-H Contests Slated

District I 4-H Eliminations Contests will be held at West Texas State University on Saturday, May 5. Representatives of 4-H clubs in 22 counties in this district will compete in 28 different contests.

Each country is eligible to have participants in every contest with junior 4-H members, age 9-13, and senior 4-H members, age 14-19, participating. Senior winners in each contest will compete at 4-H Round-Up at Texas A&M University, June 5 and 6. District is the top contesting for junior 4-H members.

The general assembly begins at 9:30 a.m. in Room 202, Activities Center, on the campus of West Texas State University.

Awards and ribbons will be presented in the afternoon in Room 202 by the contest chairmen.

The score card used for judging 4-H demonstrations gives 30 percent for subject matter, 25 percent on presentation, 15 percent on educational value and appeal to audience, 10 percent on introduction and originality, and five percent on appearance of team or individual.

Contests will be in the areas of public speaking, share-the-fun (a talent show), foods and clothing educational activities, electric demonstration, money management, rifle contest, safety, and many more.

Robert L. (Bob) West, who recently moved to Canyon from Corpus Christi to open a Texas Parks & Wildlife Department field study office, carves and collects duck decoys as a hobby.

Duck, Goose Study Underway

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has opened an office at 1400 4th Ave., at the rear of Lindsey Land & Cattle Co., for the purpose of studying waterfowl that annually visits the area.

In charge of the Canyon operation is Robert L. (Bob) West of 2617 13th Ave. West, his wife Joann and their two children, moved to Canyon in January from Corpus Christi.

West will still oversee waterfowl study operations now being done in the Corpus Christi area.

According to West, the department has long needed to survey waterfowl throughout the state as well as in the bay around the coast. "We saw a need for the same work in the high plains region since it is an important wintering place for ducks and geese," said West.

West, a biologist, said the irrigated agriculture area here is a prime attraction for ducks and geese. "We will be gathering information on mallards and Canada geese in the area to determine the characteristics of the various populations."

The studies now underway will allow better management and harvest, said West.

In addition to information gathered here through surveys, West said there would be cooperation between the various state and federal agencies which deal with migratory waterfowl.

Buffalo Lake banding tabulations will be used by West, who said he would also receive help from local and area biologists. "It will be a long-range study," West said. "We have been doing aerial surveys in Texas since the mid-40s."

According to West, the Canadian geese which stop in the area for the winter are a distinct population. "They are smaller and are among the healthiest populations in the country." He added that shooting pressure on the area duck and goose population is light as compared to other flyways.

"The people of the area might not realize it but about 2 million waterfowl winter in the area, making this an extremely important area," the biologist said.

West said his primary hobby was collecting old wooden duck decoys and collecting books on the history of waterfowl market hunting. He said he did some carvings of decoys and also liked to hunt and fish.

Mrs. West, in addition to being a housewife, plays bridge and golf. Daughter Laurie, 9, is a student at Rex Reeves Elementary School. Bob Jr. is almost 1-year-old.

Lee Roy Moreland, postmaster, displays a sheet of the 10 8-cent stamps honoring Postal People. The stamps were issued beginning Monday in recognition of the many people who run and are part of the Postal Service.

First Graders To Present "Little Red Hen"

By TROYCE MULHERIN

WE HAVE LOST a good and true friend. Doris Bufkin was loved by many. We will miss her. We will miss her helping hands, her loving heart, and her undiminished faith and love in us. We have the memory of her. We have the memory of her smiling willingness to give of herself in so many cherished ways.

DORIS SHARED THE very best of herself with her family, her friends, her community, her school and her church. Doris was a good and true wife, mother and friend. A treasured memory for our hearts.

MONDAY EVENING, MAY 7, is an important evening for the first graders at Gene Howe. These students, with a little help from their teachers, will present the program for the PTA meeting. "The Little Red Hen" is the title of their presentation.

This is the story of the hen who couldn't get anyone to help her with the work. Sound familiar? Oh, yes, there will be a rhythm band performing, too. Mrs. Loy Gerald and Alicia Niemeier, first grade teachers, and Mrs. Margie Phillips, music director, have been helping the youngsters in preparation for a fun evening. (Mom and dad — don't forget your cameras!) See you about seven o'clock at Gene Howe Monday evening.

HOW ABOUT THAT Eldon Brown! Took his family to Clayton Lake for a little fishing. (Melvena didn't fish — just lolled in the sun.) Imagine. The gist of the story is that Eldon caught three twenty inch trout, weighing in at about two and a half pounds each! The powers that be say these are "Keepers" and not to be eaten — just displayed to anyone and everyone who will properly admire them. The menfolk in the Brown clan caught gobs and gobs more fishies, too. They were "accomplishing," while Melvena watched them and the birds and everything else she could focus in on with her new binoculars.

KIM THRASH HAD a dream fulfilled in the form of a little blue Chevy for her sixteenth birthday. Kim is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Thrash, and momma Thrash said that Kim got a car for her birthday, and she (momma) got a good case of the "worries" for a while. Happy birthday, Kim, and happy driving!

SOMETIMES BIRTHDAYS AND birthday presents take a little time and planning. Like Kelli Campbell had her birthday on March 16. Like she got a high-speed bike just recently as a belated birthday present from her mom and her Uncle Donnie. This explains that zooming flash going by on Lamont Street. Happy birthday, happy riding, Kelli.

TWELVE SIXTH GRADE students got together last Saturday morning for some real serious studying. Believe that? They did. But, the studying and learning came in the guise of square dance lessons. Herrick Allen has a big barn in his backyard, and this is the place for the lessons conducted by him. A series of eight to ten lessons are planned, with the first three being free. After the initial three lessons, the class will be closed and a slight charge made for each lesson thereafter. Very slight charge.

THE TEEN TWIRLERS from Canyon will be visiting the youngsters next Saturday morning. Probably get in a few squares at the same time. Might get in a circle, too. Being alert and full of energy, our youngsters are picking up this square dancing routine real fast, tucking two new steps under their belts last weekend. Lots of good clean fun.

A HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Lynda Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Foster, who became twelve years old on the 1st of May.

RAMONA WILSON WILL become seven years old on the 4th. Many happies to Ramona, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Obe Wilson.

THOSE BUSY, BUSY Scouts have been at it again. This time around Troop 130, Fais District, took themselves off to Buffalo Lake with the idea in mind to do some work toward some conservat on badges. David, Kurt and Allen Johnson; Don Oliver and Bart Solbrig did tree trimming and a whole lot of trash picking-up, and will receive a Jamboree Patch in addition to that badge.

PETE SOLBRIG, LEADER; C. O. Hillman, district representative; and Carl Johnson, Scout Master, accompanied the boys. (Got no report on how much actual work these men did, though.) Just jesting, men!

THE WILDLIFE PEOPLE gave the young men 45 minutes of instruction on boating and boat safety. They participated in skill activities, and Troop 130 took First Place here. A big Camp Fire was held the last evening at the lake, and each troop presented skits. Lots of fun. A fishing derby was held on Sunday, and Bart Solbrig brought home a plaque designating him as "Champion Fisherman." Bart not only caught the biggest fish, he caught the littlest fish; thus, insuring this championship rating for himself.

THE SCOUTS SQUEEZED in a little sleeping and a lot of eating during their weekend of contributing to their community. Thank you, gentlemen.

A RABIES VACCINATION drive is planned in Amarillo for this coming weekend. Dogs will be vaccinated at fire stations Saturday and Sunday, May 5 and 6. Cats will be vaccinated at veterinary clinics Monday and Tuesday, May 7 and 8. To have your animals vaccinated at these times and places will cost you $4.00 each, instead of the usual $5.00 charge. Therefore, if you have four animals, one will be paid for from your savings. Or something. Anyway, it will cost less this way. Besides, the little loved ones need their vaccinations. Take advantage.

SPEAKING OF DOGS — perhaps the timing is bad — what with the previous paragraph containing the word "cost" in conjunction with the word "dogs" — but — just happen to have friend who has six darling, precious, loving, lovable puppies who need homes. If you have been wanting a dog of a particular breed, just call. This momma doggie has at least one of each kind. Any color, any size. Seriously, now, these little critters are adorable, simply adorable. The number to call for your warm bundle of happiness is 355-5429.

THE NUMBER TO call with your news items is 352-6053. Not allergic to club news, party news, trip news, or any other kind of news.

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall. (Which means thank you for the opportunity to share this with you.)

Local Woman Heads Study On Day Care

Mrs. Jane Stephens of Canyon has been named to head a study group to determine the need in Canyon for a day care center for children.

County Judge Woody Pond said Mrs. Stephens has been appointed to form a committee to research the needs here by a steering committee of the Panhandle Community Action Corporation.

The Community Action Corporation recently received a $75,000 federal grant to open and operate day-care centers in the Panhandle.

Several cities in the Panhandle have asked for day-care centers, which provide child-care service for working mothers.

Pond said a local committee will study the problem primarily because a local committee will probably be more informed about the needs of the community than would be a committee of out-of-towners.

Once results are compiled from the Canyon study, the Community Action Corporation will make a decision on whether to fund a day-care center here.

Lynn Davis, Alisha Nelson, Sheryl Gunter, Brenda Stevens and Tonya Hunter will represent the girls' track team at the state meet to be held in Austin May 11 and 12. The girls qualified for state competition by making good showings at the regional meet last weekend.

Track Stars Qualify For State

Four members of the girl Eagles track team at Canyon High have qualified to compete in the state meet set for May 11 and 12 in Austin.

Lynn Davis, Alisha Nelson, Brenda Stevens and Sheryl Gunter, all members of the mile relay team, qualified by coming in second in the regional meet held last weekend in Abilene. Miss Nelson also qualified for the 440-yard dash by finishing second in regional competition.

Tonya Hunter will also make the trip to Austin as an alternate on the mile relay team.

In the 440-yard dash at the regional, Miss Nelson qualified with a time of 61.3, and the mile relay time for Canyon was 4:12.13. "We lost by just inches," coach Bob Schneider said of the relay run.

In other regional action, which consisted of more than 30 schools, some AAAA, Miss Nelson was fifth in the 80-yard hurdles and Miss Davis was fifth in the broad-jump.

Canyon placed sixth in the regional meet.

Miss Davis also set a broad jump record with a distance of 16-3¾, and again Miss Umberson was fifth at 15-3½.

Brenda Stevens now holds the district mark in the 100-yard dash with a time of 11.4, and the mile relay team of Davis, Nelson, Stevens and Gunter now own that mark with a time of 4:13.7.

Others who qualified for the regional meet and their district marks were: Tanya Riley, 2nd place, 60-yard dash, 7.3; Alisha Nelson, 2nd place, 80-yard low hurdles, 11.1; Davis, Gunter, Stevens and Umberson, 440-yard relay, 2nd place, 51.4; Alisha Nelson, 440-yard dash, 2nd place, 61.7; Penny Peckenpaugh, shot put, 2nd place, 31-8 and discus, 2nd place, 96-7½.

Spring Is: The Lily Pushing Aside The Clod

By MILDRED TURNER

THERE WAS A little lady who sang a song "I Marvel at the Wisdom of Our God." Some of the words were: "When I saw that little lily pushing up that heavy clod, then I marveled at the wisdom of our God. The Lord said, Let the weak say I am strong. In my heart I thought He said it wrong, 'til I saw that little lily pushing up that heavy clod." I was just thinking how wonderful that spring time is so magic.

THERE ARE THE early spring bulbs which push through the snow to promise that spring is coming. Then the various fruit trees begin their blooming by course, so that we have such a variety of beauty to enjoy for a long period of time. As each tree proudly portrays its beauty I think surely this is the most beautiful! Each has its own unique characteristics. It is the red bud, apple and the lilacs on parade this week. The wild flowers are just wild this year with the rains encouraging each one to spring up.

BRENT AND I went out and picked a few of the small dainty yellow clusters, placed them in a little glass about an inch tall, for his new baby sister, Dana, and his mother, Carolyn, to enjoy. I appreciate these little treasures and all that helps to make up the excitement of spring.

I WOULD LIKE to hear from everyone in this canyon this week on "how your garden grows." We heard from Dewey, Garland's brother in San Saba, Texas, and being so far south they are usually eating from their garden before ours is even planted. This year their garden froze out and they are replanting. When I plant flower beds I always mix in a few carrot seeds and sometimes a sprig of lettuce or onions to add variety to the foliage as well as convenience when making salads. Later on, the carrots make beautiful white blooms and the seeds fall and reseed for next year. Often I have carrots which stay good all winter just for the stew I may wish to make on a cold winter day. The lettuce makes a pretty border and as you pinch for a salad it just continues for a long period of time, replacing the leaves you take. Strawberries are darling in the flower bed, with continual blooms and attractive tasty fruit. Robert Boothe and Laura Webb enjoyed peeking here and there for the pretty red strawberries last summer and so did some of the birds.

RECENT GUESTS OF the Jack Inmans were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boston Justice of Saint Jo, Texas, her sister, Betty Jones, from Phoenix, Arizona, and Allen and Janette Jasper of Portland, Oregon. Allen is in school so he had to fly down for this affair. Loraine laughed as she told of the wild shopping spree she and her sister enjoyed and the togetherness as the family sang around the piano or organ. I might add the Inmans are blessed with two great cooks in their household (and two more coming on). I know, I've been to some of their dinners!

I'VE HAD SOME phone calls from neighbors asking about Irene Parker. She's doing real well, I think. She's just returned from Omaha, Nebraska, where she visited her daughter, Dr. and Mrs. H. Miller and family. She was at church Sunday. Randy Carthel could not wait for her return; drove her back with the excuse he was in that vicinity anyway! Roberta Carthel (youngest daughter) and Randy have stayed with her a lot of the time since Jack passed away. Irene was telling me Randy placed first, twice, and fourth, once, in the motorcycle races last Saturday. We are proud of Randy and all our racers from the Palisades but they are all too modest to report on their races.

RECENT WEEKEND GUESTS of the E. E. Carliles were her brother Dan and Jewel Jones from Childress. Grandson Kenneth spent his Easter vacation out with Margie and Ernest, also a granddaughter, Dean Foster, who was recovering from surgery.

A YOUNG MISSIONARY, Joe Garcia, will bring the message at the Palisades Community Church this weekend. Everyone is welcome.

PALISADERS SALUTE THEO and Richard Jackson down at Lubbock!

I HAVE INTENDED to mention the new gate sign, which we are all so happy about, and with the weather getting more settled, be listening for a call for "Help" by the gate committee.

I TALKED TO John Brazzil this week to see if there was a magic wand we could wave over our grass burrs to make them disappear. There isn't! No chemical will kill them, but his advice was to keep lawns well fertilized and watered so they could help choke them out and cut them down before they can seed in other areas. I also asked about some of my fruit trees which are cracking in places and the goo coming out. He explained that rapid growth, snow and ice or possibly bores could cause this. His advice was to clean these places well (with small knife, etc.) and spray thoroughly with pruning paint (found at garden centers). Thought I'd pass this on to you.

VALORIE McCLENDON AND several youngsters were enjoying the water and doing a little fishing at the crossing last Sunday afternoon.

NOTICED D. L. and Billye Brackeen out bicycling the other day.

SOME OF THE kids playing ball at the Griffins' recently were: Sharri and Susy Boothe, Sharla Williams, David Tate, Mark Davis, Doug and Greg Moore, Julie Webb, Jeanne McDonald, Timmy Carlile, Dessa, Jackene, and Linda Griffin.

HAD SUCH A pleasant surprise as I enjoyed the arts and crafts at the Women's Federated Club last Friday, to meet a young lady named Troyce Mulherin. From the moment I saw her I knew I'd met her some place. As I went from one exhibit to another I kept trying to place her. After I could stand it no longer I went up and introduced myself, to find out she is the writer of the Gene Howe news. Not only is she a talented writer, but she and her sister Joyce, are so very artistic. They both had such beautiful work in every category there. I felt it an honor to meet her. Our own artist, Beverly Norman, was on hand doing wipe-outs. Her tole paintings and wipe-outs are gorgeous.

THE PALISADES HOME Demonstration Club met with June Hooker on April 26 with a covered dish luncheon. Nell Moore was ill so V.P. Beverly Norman presided during the business session. Our newly elected officers are: president, Mrs. E.W. Carlile; vice president, Mrs. Taylor Norman; secretary, Mrs. Ross Guess; council delegate, Mrs. Chas. Hooker. Our discussions included the Tasting Tea, May 14, the cost of groceries (our conclusion that meat is now as high accordingly as everything else). We talked a little about some of the plans for activities including our families this summer, picnics, vacation Bible School, ice cream and watermelon socials, game night in the park once a week. No details were really worked out yet. Becky Hall brought a much needed and interesting program on "The Art of Managing Money." It was decided that most everyone makes a budget of some sort whether mental or on paper. About a dozen ladies attended this interesting program, luncheon, and visiting fun day affair.

OUR NEXT MEETING will be at my house on May 11 at 10:00, sack lunch. Beverly Norman will bring the material for, and teach us macrame. Bring your flower pots and any plants you wish to share, whether for outdoors or indoors. I have a lot of ferns for hanging planters. After pricing the hanging pots, we decided to make some macrame hangers, plus some belts, etc. If you have other projects you wish to work on bring them along. If it's pretty, we will work outside with potting part, but if not, we will do our gardening in the house! If you don't come you will miss a lot of fun!

MY NEIGHBOR, P.B., called to tell me about the woman down in Oklahoma who takes a "granny pill" so she won't have any more grandchildren. Well, I love mine and want more. I do well, without too much discomfort or pain until about the time I head for the hospital and I get the jitters then! See you next week.

Geology Professor Reports Phenomena

When a cluster of rocks burst through the earth's crust several months ago near Elk City, Okla., news of the mysterious phenomenon was transmitted to scientists around the world — not by newspapers, but by a system just as timely.

The system is run by the Smithsonian Institution Center for Short-Lived Phenomenon located at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass.

Since its mission is dissemination of information about natural and not-so-natural events, the center depends to a great extent on more than 2,000 scientists around the world to report the events.

Dr. James Underwood, associate professor of geology at West Texas State University, was one of several scientists to report the strange rock upheaval near Elk City. Through his report and the reports of others, scientists from Oklahoma were able to hurry to the site and examine the phenomenon.

Underwood, who has been with WTSU since 1970, volunteered to become an integral part of the Center for Short-Lived Phenomenon's program while doing research in Libya.

Since that time, the Elk City rock mystery has been the only reportable event he's heard about.

"My only responsibility as a volunteer is to report to the center any event, such as the Elk City boulder upheaval, the immediate study of which is important to the immediate region and to understand the cause," he said.

Reportable events, Dr. Underwood said, include events like meteorites, fireballs, significant pollution spills, animal or bird migrations, infestations or kills, and even the finding of new tribes of peoples.

"These are the kinds of things, which when a scientist can know of them and get there, can mean so much more," he said. "A meteorite, for example, is much more valuable if it is seen within hours than it is a week later."

Since he is a volunteer in the center's program, Underwood receives almost daily several postal-sized cards which identify and explain the most recent phenomenons to come into the center.

Besides using the cards in class to explain natural events and relationships, Underwood has erected a large world map on the main floor of the WTSU science building to illustrate, on a weekly basis, the center's reported phenomena.

Different events are keyed with string and pins to the outer edge of the map where cards explaining the event are attached.

Underwood is leaving the pins from each week in place so that at year's end, students will be able to tell when and where events occurred throughout the year.

In addition to its instructional value, Underwood hopes the map will have an underlying effect on students, also.

"The real crux of the thing is to get the word out to let people know that we want to know about these things," Underwood said. "Throughout the Panhandle we'd like to let people know we have an interest and we hope they'll report anything which might be of interest.

Jana Miller, sophomore at West Texas State from Idalou, traces one of the short-lived phenomena which are mapped out in the Science Building on campus. Dr. James Underwood, associate professor of geology, has put up the map to give students insight into events of scientific interest throughout the world.

UT Geologist Sets Speech Today At WT

Dr. Virgil E. Barnes, well-known geologist and director of tektite research at the University of Texas, will present two illustrated lectures at West Texas State University today and Friday.

He will speak at 7:30 p.m. today in room 221 of the University Complex South on tektites, glassy objects which most geologists believe are of a terrestrial origin.

At 9 a.m. Friday he will lecture on astroblemes in room 104 of the Science Building. An astrobleme is a deeply eroded meteorite impact structure.

Dr. James R. Underwood Jr., of the WTSU geology department said he expected the lectures to be of a non-technical nature and would be of interest to the public.

Underwood and Barnes are the first known Americans to collect specimens of the rare Libyan Desert glass.

This glass was first discovered in 1932 along the Egyptian-Libyan border. Underwood and Barnes gathered 25 specimens of the glass during an expedition to that area two years ago.

"This distinctive glass has never been found elsewhere in the world, and it is believed to have resulted from the melting of surface rocks by the heat wave of a comet passing near the earth," Underwood said.

"The age of the glass, based on fission track dating, is approximately 26.5 million years," he added.

Underwood and Barnes reported on the expedition and preliminary results of examination of the glass at the Symposium of the International Association of Planetology in Montreal last August.

Underwood said that Barnes was returning some of the Libyan Desert Glass to him during his visit to be put on display at West Texas State.

It was also during the two geologists' expedition that they examined a large circular structure of disturbed rock about seven miles in diameter that was believed to be an astrobleme.

Underwood said that subsequent microscopic examination of rock samples from the structure confirmed its impact origin.

Barnes was the first person, in 1940, to describe the occurrence of tektites in North America, and during the past 12 years his worldwide tektite research has been supported by the National Science Foundation.

Grimes County, northwest of Houston, is the only place in Texas where tektites have been found.

Barnes has published nearly 200 articles, including many papers on tektites and meteorites. He was the editor of a book on tektites. Presently he is directing the preparation of a geologic atlas of Texas.

WT Tracksters Compete Today

Coach Bob Kitchens' West Texas State University track team will compete today in Denton in a five-way meet against Missouri Valley Conference power North Texas State, two Southwest Conference teams and a strong independent.

The Buffaloes have won their last two meets — taking the team title two weeks ago in the West Texas State Invitational and last week winning the nine-team Wayland Baptist College Invitational.

TCU, North Texas and independent Pan American will field full teams for the Thursday afternoon meet, while SMU will enter its track team, minus its sprint corps.

North Texas State is expected to contend with Wichita State for the top position in the Missouri Valley Conference meet later this month.

The Buffaloes set a pair of school records Saturday at Wayland's meet in Plainview. Hereford senior Jim Childers triple-jumped 46-4 for a new school standard and Hereford sophomore George Fuller had a 24-2 long jump.

North Texas has a standout jumper in Abe Brown, who has a 24-5½ long jump and a 50-9 school record triple jump this spring.

Levi Cole Given Troop 31 Award

Levi Cole of Canyon's First National Bank, a scoutmaster from 1932 until 1947, has been named the first recipient of the Oscar Hinger Memorial Award.

The award is a presentation of Canyon Boy Scout Troop 31 as a memorial honoring persons active in, or who have supported, scouting.

Cole was the leader of Troop 30 which has since disbanded.

Troop 31 issues the award in memory of former scoutmaster Oscar Hinger, who died last summer of an apparent heart attack.

The presentation was made Monday night during a special banquet held at the First United Methodist Church in Canyon. An estimated 90 persons were in attendance for the presentation.

Hinger, who had been active in regional scouting as well as locally, held the Silver Beaver Award, said Eugene "Shug" Bonds, Troop 31 scoutmaster. Hinger had been principal of Rex Reeves Elementary School and was also active in civic affairs.

The Hinger family, Mrs. Bonnie Hinger and children Craig and Kathy were honored as a group for their devotion, time and effort contributed to scouting, said Bonds.

According to Bonds, two plaques will be placed on permanent display at the Canyon Community Center where each year's winner's name will be engraved.

Cole, a former president of Canyon First National, still serves as a merit counsellor in the scouting movement.

A New Day To Perform On May 10

Area music fans will be treated to a sampling of what servicemen at bases in the Caribbean will be hearing when West Texas State University's pop-rock choral group A New Day makes its USO tour this summer.

The group will perform at 8 p.m. May 10 in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Their appearance is free to the public.

A New Day, one of only a few university groups selected to tour military service installations this year, will leave May 24 for a four-week tour.

The ensemble is under the direction of Dr. Hugh Sanders, director of choral activities at WTSU.

Group members include bass-pianist Jeryl Hoover, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.N. Hoover of Odessa; tenor-guitarists Phil and Andy Dietz, juniors, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R.F. Dietz of Borger; alto Linda Adams, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Adams Jr. of Amarillo; soprano Vickie McFarlin, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heiskell of Fritch; tenor Rene Clemente, senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernesto Clemente of El Paso; Dana Gibson, Amarillo graduate student; Cheryl Richardson, Amarillo sophomore; and Steve Garms, Canyon junior.

For their special appearance in Canyon, the group will sing a medley of tunes in their USO repertoire, including current hits, old favorites and gospel numbers.

Late Taxpayers Will Be Named In News Ad

City residents who owe taxes for 1972 have just three weeks to pay their taxes or their names will be published in a Canyon News advertisement.

That warning was issued Tuesday by City Tax Assessor-Collector Conway Kuykendall.

"The city charter requires that we publish the names of delinquent taxpayers," he said.

The advertisement will run in four issues of The News beginning May 24.

Kuykendall said the advertisement will list all property owners' names, the amount of tax they owe and a legal description of the property.

1972 taxes became delinquent Feb. 1 and the taxes began accruing interest charges.

July 1 is the legal date for the delinquent taxes to be formally transferred to a delinquent tax roll. And, at that time, penalty and interest charges rise to 11 per cent.

Sewing Classes This Summer

A beginner sewing class will be offered this summer by the Canyon High School homemaking department.

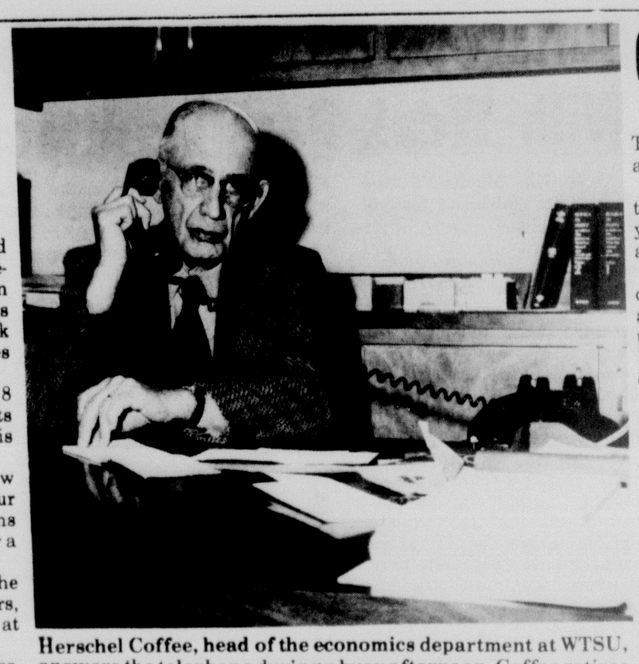
Classes will be conducted from 9 a.m. to noon on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Persons interested in the sewing classes should contact one of the following teachers before May 10: Mrs. Cathy Cameron, 655-2168; Mrs. Janet Fincher, 655-2168; Mrs. Lanette Whitley, 655-2108.



Herschel Coffee, head of the economics department at WTSU, answers the telephone during a busy afternoon. Coffee retires after 48 years of teaching at the end of the summer term.

Coffee To End 48 Years Teaching After Summer

Herschel Coffee came to West Texas State University 48 years ago as a violin instructor.

He leaves on his retirement this summer after almost 30 years as an economics professor and administrator.

The orchestration of a fine concerto, after all, is something akin to the orchestration of a university department which in 1970 was the third largest department on campus.

Coffee, a life-long Canyon resident and native, will be honored Friday night during the annual Omicron Delta Epsilon economics society initiation banquet on the campus. The banquet is at 7:30 p.m. in the east dining hall.

The son of a Canyon building contractor, Coffee attended Canyon public schools before entering West Texas State.

In 1925, he received his bachelor's degree in history from the college. During his college career, he studied music, particularly violin and when he graduated he was offered an instructorship in the WTSU music department.

It was during his senior year in the college that Coffee was first exposed to economics as a course of study.

From that first taste of economics, Coffee found his interest growing and himself in more and more economics courses.

Coffee continued in the music department until the early 1940s.

As a result of World War II and the depression, Coffee found that demand for musicians or music teachers diminished rapidly. And, he decided it might be best to find another field.

Economics was his natural choice considering his continued work in the field.

In 1942, he went to the University of Texas, having already received a masters degree from the University of Southern California in economics, and pursued doctoral work while teaching there.

A call from Dr. J. A. Hill, then president of WTSU, brought Coffee back to the campus — this time as an economics professor.

But, just a year later, he left again to join the Division of Wage Stabilization of the War Labor Board in Denver.

When the war ended, he returned to Canyon and WTSU.

Coffee became head of the economics-government-sociology department in 1952, at a time when the department had only a four-man staff.

Just three years ago, the consolidated department was broken into component parts and the combined department had 26 faculty members and more than 3000 students.

With the split of the big department, he became head of the newly created economics department at WTSU in the fall of 1970.

Coffee's work has not been at all confined to the university. He has taken an active role in Canyon.

He served on the Canyon City Commission, for example, from 1950 to 1952 and has been active in the chamber of commerce. From 1968 to 1971, he was chairman of the city planning and zoning commission.

The Canyon Rotary Club has also benefited from Coffee's talents. While serving in various capacities locally, he was also district governor of Rotary in 1953.

He's a member of the First Methodist Church, where he teaches the men's Sunday school class.

Through his nearly half century of teaching, Coffee has viewed many changes in economics and teaching itself.

"One of the greatest changes has been in the great increase in the study of economics," he said.

Coffee noted that the demand for economists in government and business has grown at a fantastic rate.

"The development of the whole field of economics as a body of knowledge has been rapidly accumulating since World War II," he said. "So, today it has grown into a rather specialized and technical professional field.

"The almost spectacular growth of economics and its use is the most significant development in the field."

While he has witnessed and participated actively in much of that growth, Coffee said he has enjoyed tremendous rewards in his profession.

"Among them is the satisfaction of the challenging associations you have in the university community," he said. "There is satisfaction in working with young people and enjoying their development and future success."

He said he has found the teaching of economics a challenging job.

"It keeps a person from going stagnant."

Coffee says he's looking forward to retirement.

"The only thing one has a quandary about is the fear that it will become more difficult to maintain the challenge and satisfaction," he said. "Otherwise, I'm looking forward to it."

During Friday night's banquet, seven from WTSU will be initiated into Omicron Delta Epsilon. They are Juan R. Dunsmore, Ann Bland, Marilyn Eldridge, Michael Howland, Gregory Harms, Coy Noles Jr., Edna Smith and Michael Kohler.

Awards Ceremony Today For ROTC

Sixteen cadets in the West Texas State University ROTC will be honored today in the annual awards ceremony on campus.

Among awards to be presented are the William E. Lockhart Trophy, the Martin A. Dickinson Trophy, the Association of the U.S. Army Award, the Daughters of the American Revolution Award, the Sons of the American Revolution Award, and awards from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

Awards will be presented by Lt. Col. John O. Childs, professor of military science at WTSU.

Buffs Complete Spring Drills With Weak Passing Attack

Coach Gene Mayfield's West Texas State University football team completed spring drills with a final game Saturday night in Hereford.

In that contest the Maroons, made up of the first offensive and defensive units, defeated the Whites, 28-17.

Generally speaking, coach Mayfield was pleased with the session, but was not happy with the passing game.

Mayfield and his staff worked a great deal of the time in spring training on improving the passing game, but in Saturday night's game both teams managed to complete only 14 of 39 passes and there were six interceptions.

"Our passing game was making progress until we took off over one week for the Easter vacation," said Mayfield. "We didn't have a full week prior to the game following the spring break and that probably resulted in the poor throwing."

Bob Sweat, the number one signal-caller, had seven of 19 completions for 75 yards, but he threw two interceptions. Junior college transfer Don Nava hit on two of eight passes for 62 yards and one touchdown. The touchdown pass was a 55-yarder to split end Mike Lozano. Mike Wartes, the White quarterback, had five of 10 completions for 45 yards, but threw three interceptions.

Lozano, the 5-6, 150-pound sophomore-to-be, led all receivers with three catches for 96 yards. He set up the final Maroon score on a 37-yard pass completion from Sweat.

Rick Schleider, the stocky, but flashy sophomore-to-be tailback, led all rushers with 88 yards on 28 carries for the Maroons. He scored a pair of touchdowns on three-yard runs.

Cole Fraley had 83 yards in 24 carries for the Whites and Jimmy Lisle added 58 yards on 13 carries. Fraley scored on a one-yard run for the Whites and Lisle had a 17-yard scoring run.

The Whites, with Fraley, Lisle, Wartes and Mike Adams all making consistent gains, rushed for 276 yards. The Maroons had a more balanced attack with 159 yards rushing and 137 passing. The Whites threw for only 45 yards.

2 Standouts Sign Letters

A pair of standout trackmen from Pampa and one from Odessa have signed letters of intent with West Texas State University track coach Bob Kitchens.

Rick McGuire and Larry Marlar were standout sprinter-quarter-milers at Pampa High School, while Terry Penn was outstanding as a hurdler and high-jumper at Odessa Permian High School.

McGuire will compete as a member of Pampa's sprint relay team this weekend in Austin at the state track meet. Marlar was injured much of this past season.

The 5-11, 150-pound McGuire lettered three years at Pampa in track and two in football. His best times in the 100-yard dash are 9.8 and he has run the 220 in 21.8. He also has a 21-4 long jump and a 49.5 best on his leg of the mile relay.

McGuire ran on the District 3-AAAA winning 440-yard relay team and on that same team which ran 42.4 to place second at the regional meet and qualify for state this week. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire was a starting split end on the Pampa football team this past fall.

Marlar, 6-2 and 165, ran a 49.3 in the open 440 as a junior and had a 48.9 split on the mile relay team which qualified for the state meet that season.

Injuries prevented Marlar from competing for much of this past spring, but he won several early season 440-yard dash races. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Marlar.

Magazine Features "Texas"

The cover of the April 16 issue of "Travel Trade," the official magazine of the national Discover America Travel Organization, displays a scene in color from the TEXAS musical production.

The journal circulates to travel agents all over the United States. The scene from TEXAS, depicting a group of Indians in colorful costumes, was used to focus interest on the magazine's April topic, Frontier West Region.

Mrs. Margaret Harper of the TEXAS staff said that the editor of "Travel Trade" first saw the cover picture in a display at a regional meeting held early in April in Albuquerque of the Frontier West Region of the national Discover America travel organization.

WT Footballers Donate Blood

Members of the West Texas State University Buffalo football team traveled to Amarillo by bus Wednesday to give blood for the Khiva Shrine burn institute in Galveston.

The footballers offered the first major donation of blood in the Amarillo Khiva Shrine's campaign to obtain blood for their Galveston burn center.

Local Shriner, Billy Mayfield, who conceived the idea for the footballers to give their blood, said the Galveston center is seriously low on blood and Shriners throughout the state have been called on to donate.

The Shriners, in return for the WTSU team effort, have vowed their support for Buffalo season ticket sales for next fall.

Mayfield said he hoped about 100 pints of blood could be obtained through the football team.

Beef Mobile Launches Tour In Canyon Monday, May 7

By MARY NEAL HENRY

WATCH FOR THE wagon! The Beef Mobile will be in Canyon on Monday, May 7. Skip Simons and I will be helping to work it from 2 to 4 p.m. Look for it. Come and pick up some good literature, recipes and register for beef cuts that will be given away. Canyon CowBelles will also be helping.

THE BEEF MOBILE will be in Happy on Tuesday, May 8. There, too, it will be sponsored by the Happy CowBelles and KGNC. If you miss it in Canyon come to Happy! The Beef Mobile will visit 52 towns in six weeks in the KGNC listening area.

EIGHT COWBELLES, AND one husband, attended the first state meeting of Texas CowBelles at Lubbock Country Club on Wednesday of last week. Vera and Bill Eubanks, Vivian Woods, Billie Pearson, LaNelle Todd, Mary Jane Miller, Othella McGehee, Bernice Hamblen and I attended the business session and luncheon. Husbands were welcomed! Lots of men were there. Vivian Woods, president of Happy CowBelles, gave our report. Vivian was also elected to the next State nominating committee with five others: Lena Mae Hess of McClean representing the Top of Texas CowBelles; Laura Garner of Levelland, representing the Caprock CowBelles; Connie Cluck of Gruver, representing the XIT CowBelles; Sara Lawson of Hereford, representing the Hereford CowBelles; and Flossie Woodward of Pearsall, representing the South Texas CowBelles.

HAPPY AND HEREFORD are the only two towns whose CowBelle organization does not include several towns. Ten clubs now make up the Texas CowBelles, but more are being organized. We sat at the table with three lovely ladies from South of San Antonio. Tommye Hindes and Madelyn Kuykendall were both from Charlotte and Elizabeth Kuykendall was from Tilden. This family owns the Frio Livestock Sales Co. in Pearsall. They had decided they would not come up this way after the Plainview tornado. But then they had one in Pearsall, so they came on to the convention. I told them we had a Kuykendall in Canyon, but Conway, they didn't know if they were related to you or not.

MARY JANE MILLER and LaNelle Todd both won door prizes. Mary Jane won a beautiful digital clock and LaNelle won a tree—not really. LaNelle really won a plant, a tall fern in a huge marble pot. It was very pretty and it took two to carry it out to the car.

JUDY THOMPSON MADE the door prize that Happy gave away. It was the CowBelle emblem burned into a wooden plaque. Janie Frost of San Jon, New Mexico was a special guest of the convention and Janie won our door prize. We were thrilled and so was Janie.

BONITA BOHNSACK OF the Chicago National Meat Board spoke to us during the afternoon. She told us that according to their figures, the farmer gets 38¢ of the dollar and the grocery chain receives the other 62¢ of it. So there's your percentages. Over the last 20 years, food prices have moved up 46%. Industrial workers pay for this with their 129% pay hikes; food marketing employees with their 148% increase; doctors with their 122% increase; dentists with their 94% raise and farmers with their gigantic 11% gross. Farmers do not produce all they need and therefore patronize the same stores that anyone else does and pay the same prices.

OTHELLA McGEHEE, TEXAS chairman of Beef Promotion for Fathers Day, told the State delegation, "When someone asks you why is beef so high? Ask them, higher than what? What is beef higher than?"

SOMEONE IN HAPPY told me they were so sick of hearing about CowBelles. But she assured me that she was still eating plenty of beef. So that is o.k.

THE NEXT MEETING of Happy CowBelles will be May 9 at 9:30 at Judy and Roy Thompson's country home. Leave Happy on the Tulia highway and take the first pavement going East. It is only a mile or little more out of Happy and just keep going. I'm sure Judy's is the first brick home on the north side of that road AFTER you leave the end of the pavement. You'll have about four miles of dirt road. I only have about three miles to go that morning.

BETTY FRANTZ OF Hartley was in Lubbock for the meeting. She is a Canyon News reader.

ALL THE COMMENTS about Meat Appreciation Day in Amarillo may have not been complimentary, but Happy CowBelles were pleased to have been a part of it. Much was accomplished because Amarillo industry learned more about agribusiness. Education is always good. If people could buy beef a dollar down and a dollar every so often, they probably would never have gotten so upset in the first place. Protestors are a minority. But they seem to be "newsier" than the truth, that is as far as national news is concerned. I did receive a letter from the "TODAY" show acknowledging that they received my letter.

HAPPY COWBELLES WHO helped work the CowBelle booth in Amarillo last Saturday were Willie Butler, Novalene Toles, Othella McGehee, Bernice Hamblen, Vivian Woods, Mattie Ruth Robinson, Myra Nell Culp, Doll Edmonds, Jo Hand, Delores Wilhelm, Leona McFarland, and possibly others. Two circular pens made from white picket fence were a part of the booth. One contained a little black calf with a sign above him that said, "In two years, I'll be on your table." The other pen was empty with a sign that said, "Where are the next steaks coming from?" They gave away four chuck roasts. Oma Hayes would have won the one drawn for at 2:30, but she was not present. She came by later and laughed about it. Mom had rather come have Sunday dinner with us anyway. The CowBelles also handed out literature and recipes and had a very good day.

CLOWN DUSTY OF Canyon was there. He was a big help in bringing the crowd their way.

MICKY BRYAN WOODS of Plainview had heart surgery in Denver last week. The surgery lasted 4½ hours and the valve was repaired rather than replaced. Micky's mother, Winnie Bryan, is in Denver with her. Micky is steadily improving, but will be there for two weeks.

NEXT WEEK IS National Hospital week. Dr. Winifred Moore, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo, wants to give special recognition to the High Plains Baptist Auxiliary. Dr. Moore has invited all auxilians to sit together at the 8:30 a.m. service on Sunday, May 6. The service is televised throughout the Golden Spread area. Willie Butler and Ruby Vise are both members of this auxiliary and received special invitations to be present in the service.

MARTA KAY AND Betty Donnell traveled to Lubbock on Sunday to visit Betty's sister-in-law, Mrs. Tom Schmidt and her family. Tom is Betty's brother who is in the Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque.

VALERIE TIPPS, SHERRY Starkey and Eddie Joe Pearson attended a Youth Play Day sponsored by the Panhandle Quarter Horse Exhibitors Association at the Bill Cody Arena in Amarillo on Saturday. Valerie won five trophies in the open class. Sherry Starkey won two trophies in the quarter horse division. Eddie Joe Pearson won several trophies, both in the open and quarter horse divisions. (Eddie took two horses). Eddie almost won the All-Round trophy. These excelled in the reining, barrel racing, pole bending, halter class, showmanship, western pleasure, and trail classes.

KEN HENRY WON first place and a sterling silver belt buckle in the bare back bronc riding at the Tri-State High School Rodeo at Claude last weekend. Kevin Donnell, Andy Hand, Valerie Tipps, Sherry Starkey, and Becky Via also entered the show. Kevin entered the bareback bronc riding; Andy Hand, chute dogging; Valerie and Sherry, barrell racing, pole bending and goat tying; and Becky, goat tying and break-away calf roping.

WOULD WHOEVER BORROWED Ken Henry's bareback rigging at Plainview please return it!

PANHANDLE HELD A steer roping on Sunday. There will be a total of five of these events. The biggest money winner will win a saddle. Wade Lewis of Hereford won the average, Adren Cunningham of Amarillo won second and Tom Henry, third. Tom also tied the fastest steer of the day—19 seconds, I think. Sorry I don't have those times for you, but I wasn't present. Adren and Tom won second in the average of the team roping that followed. About forty teams were entered.

HAPPY JUNIOR RODEO is May 11, 12 and 13. Each night show begins at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday afternoon begins at 2 p.m. Stock will be furnished by Hugh Cooper of Santa Rosa. This is sponsored by the Happy Rodeo Association. The Tri-State High School Rodeo will be during the summer, probably the first weekend of August.

BARBARA DOWD, GRAND Representative of Mississippi to Texas, Grand Assembly of Texas, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, was honored with a party in the beautiful country home of Foster and Faye Parker on Sunday afternoon. Green punch with strawberries, cake and homemade ice cream were served to Rhonda Fellers, Connie Hand, Mary Ann Sims, Lissa Foster, Becky Stubblefield, Shawn Walters, Nancy White, Pam Andrews, Bonnie Briscoe, Jan Whitlow, Jim Tirey, Ora Mary Sims, Lynelle Andrews, Nora and Dee Taylor, Willa Jane McManigal, Juanita and W.T. Robinson, Evelyn, Barbara and Beverly Dowd, Burl Southern, Cathy, Brenda, Debbie, Faye and Foster Parker, Angelique Henry and me. We had one very special guest—Clown Dusty. Clown Dusty visited with all the girls and made animals from the balloons. He was very careful to tell them that he didn't make the balloons, they are already made. He just made the animals. While I was washing silverware, I looked in the Parker's family room and Clown Dusty had all the girls in a circle teaching them to make animals. Angelique is so pleased with hers and she is going to teach everyone at her birthday party today how to make them.

EVELYN DOWD, MOTHER Advisor of Happy Rainbow Assembly, announced that Cathy Parker had been selected by the Advisory Board to be in the Grand Choir and Connie Hand, Beverly Dowd and Faye Parker were selected as Grand Guards at the Grand Assembly in Fort Worth. The chartered bus will leave at 6 a.m. on June 14th for Fort Worth. We have reservations at the Black Stone Hotel.

SHAWN WALTERS, AMY Wallace, Pam Tatum, Debbie McCarley, Suzanne Watson, Coach Lee, Betty Walters, Opal McCarley and Mr. and Mrs. Elbern Wallace were among those attending the regional track meet at Levelland last weekend. The girls made a good showing among those larger schools that they competed with.

SANDY MORGAN AND LaVenna Jackson sponsored the sophomore party on Monday. The group attended a show and then dined out.

THE METHODIST CHURCH entertained the Seniors of '73 with a wiener roast and party in Ceta Canyon on Tuesday afternoon.

WAYSIDE HAS HAD seven inches of rain this year. I believe this time last year they'd had less than one inch for the same period. They had a total of 21" of rainfall last year. This data is from Watson's rain gauge and it's an accurate account.

THE LAST ROUNDUP was the theme for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet in Happy on Saturday evening. Decorations were western and even cattle sounds greeted guests as they entered instead of before dinner music.

TOMMY TIPPS, JUNIOR Class President, welcomed the group. Mark Hargrave, president of the Senior Class, responded. Bobby Moudy pronounced the invocation. A dinner of barbecue was catered.

THE JUNIORS ENTERTAINED by showing a film that they had made entitled, "Along Came Jones." Tommy Tipps, Greg Looney, Bobby Moudy, and Tim NcNeill "starred" in this film. (It was funny!)

EDDIE WILSON READ the history of the Senior Class. Barbara Dows read their Last Will and Testament and Eddie Wilson, Donna McDonald, and Becky Via read the Prophesy.

F.H.A. GIRLS HONORED their secret grandmothers at a tea in the school cafeteria on Tuesday afternoon. These girls draw for grandmothers each year and remember them with cards, etc. on different occasions. New F.H.A. officers were also installed. Chapter Mothers for next year are Evelyn Dowd, Betty Tipps, Opal McCarley and Johnny McCarley.

ANGELIQUE HENRY WAS 8-years-old Tuesday. We entertained Kaye Lynn Stubblefield, Jo Hurst, Tommy Williams, Kim and Dana Foster, Gennie Jackson, Mandi Shipman, Connie Venhaus, Melissa Harvey, Sheri Henry, Oma Hayes and Pearl Boone with supper at Shakey's.

ELAINA AND STEPHANIE Vise were in a piano recital at the Methodist Church in Canyon on Sunday afternoon. Ruby and Forrest Vise attended the recital.

JOY AND TOM Cox had their children "home" over the weekend, Lillie and Richard Hart of Ensign, Kan.; Sherma and Roland Flowers of Hereford, and Gladene and David Woodside of Tulia.

THE WOMEN'S STUDY Club of Happy met with Mrs. Ora Mary Sims with Mrs. Tolly Gurley serving as co-hostess. Royce Vernon presented the program "Church Music Back to Rock" using tapes and records.

LAVENNA AND EUGENE Jackson and Joy and Norman Freeman of Happy attended the funeral of Mrs. Thelma Mead in Tulia on Saturday afternoon.

BASKETBALL AWARDS WERE presented at Happy High last week. Letter jackets, sweaters, blankets, trophies, letters recognized the accomplishments of those participating in basketball this year.

SUSAN RAHLFS RECEIVED a scholarship to work on her Master's degree in Math at West Texas. Susan and Lloyd attended a banquet on Saturday evening in Canyon where Susan received this award. Congratulations, Susan! It will be a lucky school that employs Susan. Mary Jane Miller, and Loraine and Keene McDonald were among others from Happy who attended this banquet.

BILLY ED CONWAY has been granted a Sabbatical Leave from the University of Arizona in Tucson to do research in Colchester, England, fifty miles from London. Marcus and Billy Ed and their Laura and Will Mack will leave for England in September and return in January. They will spend the summer in Happy as usual.

THE LARRY TACKITT family attended church in Manchester, Tenn. during the Easter vacation (it really wasn't a vacation). The pastor there once pastored a church in Paradise, Texas. Small world. Mark Tackitt hasn't missed Sunday School in four years.

SUE, LONAS AND Moon Wright recently visited Moon's sister in Tenn., near Nashville.

BARBARA DOWD IS Valedictorian of the senior class this year. Eddie Wilson is salutatorian. Donna McDonald is third in the class.

TOMMY WOMACK, BARNEY Latham, Larry Nelson, Alvin Fleming, Eugene Moat, and Brother Gerald Tidwell of the First Baptist Church of Tulia recently traveled to Spokane, Wash., where they held and assisted in a revival. This revival was held in a church that was financed and dedicated about a year ago by the Tulia First Baptist.

HAPPY JAYCEES HAVE been working long hours on their ROC Program. The deadline is near and they have a lot of good reporting to do.

BARBARA DANNER AND I attended Randall County H.D. Council on Monday afternoon. Plans were finalized for the Tasting Tea to be held May 14 which will honor our Woman of the Year, Barbara Danner, and all other Randall County Club's honorees. The public is invited and urged to attend. Tickets are $1.

LEONA HENRY WILL have Sunnyhill Home Demonstration Club today in Canyon.

"PROGRESS THROUGH PARTICIPATION" was the theme for the Jaycee and Jaycee-Ette Installation Banquet held in Happy on Saturday evening at the Happy Jaycee Hall. A capacity crowd attended.

HAPPY JAYCEE-ETTES were responsible for the decorations which were of western origin. The doorway depicted an old gateway with the brand hanging over it—in this instance a JC (Rocking J C). Western cartoons and slogans were everywhere. Place cards at the head table were wanted posters. (My picture looks just like me. I'm not sure who the artists were).

JIM FELLERS WAS Master of Ceremonies. Jim is a past president of the Happy Jaycees. John Duggan, State Vice President, led the Pledge of Allegiance. Chris Ritter pronounced the invocation. A barbecue dinner was catered. Lloyd Venhaus, also a past president of the Happy Jaycees welcomed the group.

SARA TIREY, RETIRING president of the Happy Jaycee-Ettes presented awards. Three out of three first year members of the Happy Jaycee-Ettes received the SPOKE award; two out of three eligible received the GALS award; ten out of eleven received "Feather Your Cap" awards; eight out of fourteen received the "Hopping Hen" (travel) award; and ten out of fourteen received the "Have Your Say" award. LLOYD RAHLFS, RETIRING Happy Jaycee President, presented the Jaycee awards. Five received SPOKE awards, seven received SPARK PLUG awards; five received SPEAK UP awards; and fifteen received roadrunner awards.

THE HAPPY JAYCEES were known this year as Rahlf's Riders and Dick presented him a monogrammed gift as a reminder.
